

DR. AUDREY MATHEWS

Audrey Mathews, professor emerita at California State University, San Bernardino, has dedicated more than 35 years to public service in local and state governments as a professor, budget director, planning commissioner and consultant. She is a recipient of the Elmer B. Staats Lifetime Achievement Award for Distinguished Public Service by the American Society for Public Administration (ASPA).

Dr. Mathews taught full time in CSUSB's College of Business and Public Administration from 1996 to 2006, developing curriculum on diversity management, economic development, and budget and finance. She also serves as the CEO of Mathews and Associates, her consulting firm based in Los Angeles. A 2007 National Academy of Public Administration Fellow, Matthews has also written numerous chapters in textbooks, journal articles and technical reports on topics of diversity, mentoring and urban governance.

Dr. Mathews received her doctor of public administration from the University of Southern California and a master of public administration from California State University, Northridge.

Dr. Mathews joined the San Bernardino Symphony Board in 2013. She has also served as a member of the San Bernardino County's Planning Commission and is a current member of the Workforce Investment Board.

In describing her personal philosophy of service, Dr. Mathews stated, "I have dedicated my life to helping those in need in the communities where I live, work and play, never thinking my life's dedication to the public service as something remarkable," she said. "I'm just doing what I was born to do: mentor and provide a helping hand to those in need of my services."
