

Kathleen Noel Dyer

Kathleen Noel Dyer is a graduate of the School of Music at California State University, Long Beach, where she performed in the Los Angeles Debut Orchestra, the American Youth Symphony and the Los Angeles Philharmonic Institute. She received the West Coast's first degree of Master of Music in Piccolo Performance from Azusa Pacific University. She is a 1988 National Flute Association Piccolo Masterclass Performer and a 1993 Third Prize winner of the National Flute Association Piccolo Artist Competition. Her greatest joy is working with her flute and piccolo students, whom she loves to inspire as soloists in both sacred and secular settings. She is principal piccolo of the San Bernadino and Asia America Symphonies and the Long Beach Ballet Orchestra. Ms. Dyer is a contributing author for Flute Talk Magazine's column "Let's Talk Picc", and author of the Piccolo tutorial "One Octave Higher".
