

Pierre Flores

Pierre graduated from the University of California, Irvine in 2009 with a Bachelor of Music in Violin Performance and a minor in Education. He remained at UCI after being awarded a fellowship to complete his graduate work and was presented with a Master of Fine Arts in Violin Performance in 2011. While at UC Irvine, Pierre studied with the acclaimed professor Haroutune Bedelian. Pierre currently studies with Paul Manaster, assistant concertmaster of the Pacific Symphony. An active musician, Pierre performs with the San Bernardino Symphony and serves as concertmaster for the Dana Point Symphony. He also maintains a busy teaching schedule as a violin instructor at Corona del Mar High School, Vienna Music Institute, Tustin Music Center and a private studio of talented violin/viola students in Orange County.
